ABOUT WESTERN EDGE YOUTH ARTS

Since 2005, WEYA has worked with culturally and linguistically diverse as well as economically disadvantaged communities in Melbourne's west to create unique arts experiences for young people under 26. WEYA's work is focused on community and social impact, a strong commitment to young emerging artists and the production of excellent, culturally diverse art with an authentic youth voice. WEYA currently delivers an annual program including outreach programs in schools and communities throughout Melbourne's west, community performances, training and mentoring of emerging artists and community engagement work. WEYA is dedicated to fostering social justice, self-empowerment and cross-cultural understanding among all young people.

The company is currently in receipt of multi-year funding from Creative Victoria, Department of Education and Training, Department of Health and Human Services, Sidney Myer Fund, and Maribyrnong City Council.

POSITION SUMMARY

Western Edge Youth Arts is seeking a highly motivated, dynamic and visionary Artistic Director to fill this vital role and lead the organisation in the next exciting chapter of its 20-year history. The Artistic Director is responsible for determining the artistic vision and overseeing WEYA's annual artistic program. The role also involves directing, creating, producing and managing programs within available budgets and in line with relevant funding agreements.
